

Embury Institute Opens New Campuses

Embury Institute for Higher Education, a subsidiary of Stadio Holdings, has recently opened three new campuses in the KwaZulu-Natal and Gauteng provinces this year. These are the Durban Musgrave Campus which acts as Embury's Head Office, the Pretoria Montana Campus and the Midrand Waterfall Campus. As a result of our recent expansion these campuses now service our ever-growing population of students.

Musgrave Durban Campus

Located at 75 Silverton Road, Musgrave, the new campus has been strategically designed to cater to the needs of our student population. Under five kilometres from the Central Business District (CBD), Musgrave is easily accessible via the N3 highway. This location also provides for easier commutes between teaching practicals as there is a great cluster of pre-primary, primary and high schools within a 10km radius. The lifestyle needs of our students have also been one of Embury's greatest considerations for the location of the campus as it is ideally situated near major amenities, eateries and The Musgrave shopping centre. A botanical garden and Durban's golden beaches are just a short drive away. Transportation is no issue as the Musgrave area is a popular route for public transportation services. Private accommodation is also easily available.

The campus comprises eight large lecture venues, a student café, a library and recreational areas where students can relax and chat. Social responsibility is greatly part of our ethos and students are afforded the opportunity to participate in our social investment projects.

Pretoria Montana Campus

Situated in the heart of the Pretoria North, the Montana Campus sits on a five-hectare plot with magnificent sprawling lawns and shaded gardens. Montana is a quiet suburb nestled in the foothills of the Magaliesburg and is well situated within close proximity to all amenities. In close range to the campus are monuments, museums and the Roodeplaats Dam Nature Reserve, which offer those with a curious mind a rich experience.

Architectural features of the campus include low-rise buildings which offer students the opportunity to commune with nature. Our campus has also been fitted with the latest technological equipment to ensure uninterrupted learning and encourages integration into a digital age. Pretoria Montana also offers students the additional comfort of an on-site restaurant.

A step away from traditional student accommodation, Montana's residences offer students space and comfort they desire. All rooms offer modern features with African decorative accents and students are ensured an excellent standard own bed, study corner, wardrobe, television (with DSTV), wi-fi and en-suite bathroom. Students are also offered meals and laundry services to ensure the focus remains on their studies.

For parent's peace of mind, every residence also has a house parent who is there to ensure that our students are well cared for as part of the Embury family.

Midrand Waterfall Campus

Embury Waterfall is an upmarket campus featuring modern, sleek architecture. Known locally as The Halfway House, Midrand is conveniently situated between Johannesburg and Pretoria and is easily accessed via the N1 highway. The Midrand Waterfall Campus offers students upmarket facilities in this booming metropolis, an area which has seen enormous growth and development over the decades. The campus is located within close proximity to essential amenities and lifestyle options such as the popular Mall of Africa. Gautrain rail and bus networks offer students convenient and reliable transport to suit their needs.

In order to ensure the development and wellbeing of our student population, the Midrand Waterfall campus offers an upmarket canteen, state-of the-art computer labs and a well-stocked library.

Although the campus does not offer campus residential facilities, there is accommodation nearby. Students can enjoy breaks away from the hard-work by exploring the nearby gem stone mines and bird sanctuaries or simply relax in our recreational areas.

All Embury Campuses offer students 24-hour round the clock security on site, active Student Representative councils (SRC's) for student engagement and counselling and support services to ensure student success.
